Operative next proceeded to #130 Monhagen Ave., Middletown, N.Y., and there interviewed Mrs. Benjamin Gibson.

Mrs. Benjamin Gibson said that her husband was the son of Mrs. Sarah H. Gibson, of 17 Olive St., Middletown, N.Y. She said that she was very certain that her husband was in no way related to Mrs. Gibson or Mrs. Easton of New Brunswick, N.J., nor had she ever heard of her husband's people having any relatives in that locality.

Operative next proceeded to #40 Monhagen Ave., Middletown, N.Y., and there interviewed Mrs. Louis Gibson.

Mrs. Louis Gibson advised Operative that she did know anyone by the name of Nellie Gibson - She advised Operative that her husband's relatives came from Goshen, N.Y., and furthermore, that she was positive that her husband was in no way related to Mrs. Jane Gibson or Easton, of New Brunswick, N.J.

While in conversation with Mrs. Louis Gibson, at #40 Monhagen Ave., Middletown, N.Y., Operative observed a woman about 40 to 45 years of age in the apartment of Mrs. Louis Gibson, whom Operative felt resembled the paper pictures of Mrs. Jane Gibson, the pig lady of New Brunswick, N.J.
